

Press Release: Urban Links and GBC Golf Academy - Tara Roden, CPGA

Tara Roden, CPGA

Tara Roden, Canadian PGA Teaching Professional, is pleased to announce her business partnership with Urban Links Golf Training Centre, located five minutes from downtown Kelowna just off Hwy 97, just behind Westside Self Storage at #320-1405 Stevens Rd.

Dave Schroeder and Bill Cunningham of the Urban Links franchise are excited to have acquired a new business partner with both expertise in golf training and academy development. Tara takes on the Academy Director and Facility Manager role at Urban Links with great enthusiasm. Her goal is to provide quality customer service and interesting lesson and training options for the local golf community.

Urban Links is a one of a kind centre for the Okanagan Valley. Offered is video and laser ball flight analysis; the player an opportunity to train independently with complete access to the high-tech systems for golf swing development and with assistance from our Urban Links support personnel or Canadian PGA golf professionals. Independent Training Memberships or Packages, plus Canadian PGA lessons for the individual and group are now available.

The Urban Links Difference, "Immediate feedback from both video and ball flight launch monitor systems; creating an effective training environment during instruction and independent video training sessions."

"We are pleased to be adding new and interesting instructional programs including Golf Yoga, Golf Pilates, Senior and Women Only Groups for Full Swing and Short Game. To enhance your training while at Urban Links, we now provide Free Clinics to learn the most effective use of the video system, launch monitor and visualization techniques. It is an exciting time for Urban Links going forward into the 2008 season. "

Tara will continue to instruct lesson programs for the new GBC Golf Academy at Gallagher's Canyon. Although she has stepped down from her Director of Instruction position at Gallagher's, she is pleased to be assisting Josh Fleming the new Director of Instruction with the launch of the new GBC Golf Academy at Gallagher's. It should be a very successful year at Gallagher's with the launch of the GBC Golf Academy. Josh Fleming has been working with Gallagher's for 4 years of experience as well as having spent the past winter with Urban Links.

No doubt Tara will have a very busy season with both Urban Links and Gallagher's. She has never shied away from activity and is very involved with running local golf leagues including the "Let's Play Great Golf" tour for competitive women professionals and amateurs.

Adding to the 2008 schedule, Tara has teamed up with the Women's Place Fitness Centre, Cassandra Tompkins to host a fun Women's Golf Night. "For the Health of It" golf league will run at the Pinnacle Golf Course on Thursday Nights. For details contact Tara Roden, www.stargolf.ca or Cassandra Tompkins, www.twfitness.com
